

AbstractLamellar strip

A strip comprising a plurality of lamellae that are interconnected via a first connecting element, each lamella having two opposing lamella legs and at least two recesses extending transversely to the longitudinal axis of the strip, at least one second connecting element being formed between the recesses.

204710-084T2860